

WildPlay at the Bungy Zone Fact Sheet

What is an Element Park?

WildPlay parks are referred to as Element Parks to reflect our desire to connect people with the outdoors and the natural environment.

Element also refers to the park's varied activities and their components. For example, seventy individual elements make up the TreeGO park. More generally, a King Swing is just one element of many in a WildPlay Park.

What is a TreeGO Park?

A TreeGO Park is an obstacle course set in the natural environment where the park is located, in this case a Douglas Fir forest next to a canyon. Some of the elements include zip lines, suspended bridges, scramble nets and swinging logs.

The skill level and height of each section of the TreeGO course is marked using a colour coded system indicating the challenge based on elevation and difficulty. The entire TreeGO park (four courses) can be completed in approximately two and a half hours.

Each of the courses is height restricted. Children are required to be a minimum of 140 cm to the tips of the fingers with arms raised above the head to experience the children's course. Adults and youth are required to be a minimum of 180 cm high to the tips of the fingers with arms raised above the head to participate in the adult course.

Children's Course – children 12 and under, height restricted

Green = Minimum Elevation/Minimum Skill

Blue = Medium Elevation/Medium Skill

Red = Advanced Elevation/Medium Skill

Black = Advanced Elevation/Advanced Skill
